TEXTURE MASTER SERIES

Why is it a "master of texture"?

Reverence for Nature: no repetition, no plunder, rewrite the logic of marble growth with science and technology;

Persistent to the extreme: 2.6mm three-dimensional drop texture, demanding millimeter level ingenuity;

Be true to color: use mineral crystals to present color, subvert the traditional flat ink color, and realize the color from inside to outside, fuller, more delicate, more pure, and accurately restore the original color of natural luxury stone.

SNOW WHITE

D1632DG2100N Rock Texture
-Digital White Full Body

1600X3200MM ✕ 12MM

Inspired by the Dolomiti snow peak in the Italian Alps - when the first ray of morning light pierced the clouds, the cracks of the 10000 year old glacier cast a light gray shadow on the pure white snow field, and the rock section reflected a cold luster between pearls and ice and snow. Together with the guardian of snow white marble vein, we use 3D scanning technology to capture the natural crack track formed by glacier movement, and condense the extreme purity of the Apennine peninsula into an eternal aesthetic symbol that can be integrated into modern human settlements.

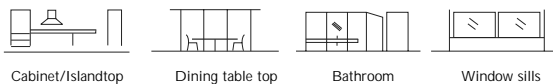

FENDI WHITE

D1632DG2101N Rock Texture
-Digital whitefull body

1600X3200MM 12MM

A rock board product that combines natural beauty and high-end quality. Its surface adopts a unique marble texture design, with white as the main tone, and skillfully integrates the fine lines of gray and white, presenting a simple and elegant visual effect. This texture is not only beautiful and generous, but also shows the perfect combination of nature and art in details.

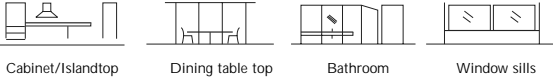

SNOWY MOUNTAIN ORCHID

D1632DG2102N Rock Texture
-Digital White Full Body

1600X3200MM 12MM

From Brazilian natural stone snow mountain orchid. The exquisitely carved natural concave convex relief integrates the inherent beauty and crisscross, with natural strength. The original style is to pursue the synchronization of muscle lines, just to get a good touch of visual and tactile senses; The new style is the peak pattern color presentation, the texture three-dimensional sense breaks through a new height, and the color is saturated and delicate.

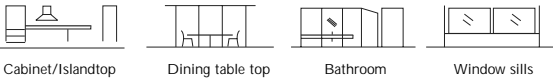

PICASSO PINK

D1632DG2103N Rock Texture
-Digital White Full Body

1600X3200MM 12MM

Inspired by an unnamed abstract ink and wash manuscript housed in the Picasso Museum in Spain, this work captures the dramatic collision between powder and ash—reminiscent of volcanic magma gushing forth and solidifying, yet also evoking the softness of morning mist settling over blooming roses.

Guided by the concept of ‘deconstructing nature to reorganize art’ , we employ modern sintered stone technology to reinterpret the growth patterns of unique natural Picasso marble from the Italian Alps. In doing so, we immortalize hundreds of millions of years of geological transformation into a timeless symbol of home aesthetics.

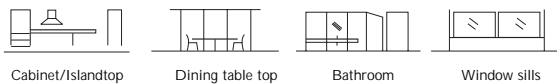

AVOCADO GREEN

D1632DG2104N Rock Texture
-Digital White Full Body

1600X3200MM ✕ 12MM

The inspiration comes from the phenomenon of “canopy shyness” in the deep Amazon rainforest - tropical trees form regular gaps to compete for sunlight. When the sunlight penetrates the leaf gaps, the tender green of the newborn avocado leaves and the moss color of the Centennial bark are interlaced, forming a unique ecological color spectrum. We injected the breath of this primitive forest into the rock plate, and combined with Milan ecological design laboratory to restore the division trajectory of plant cells with digital modeling, so that every inch of the texture hidden the golden growth law of nature.
